Let us inquire, therefore: Who are benefited by the liquor traffic? The best method of reaching a fair and just solution of this question is by a system of exclusive reasonings--a system not unlike that which the careful physician employs in reaching a correct diagnosis of an obscure disease. ist. Does the liquor traffic benefit the tax-payers? This is a very important as well as highly respectable class of our fellow-citizens, and so numerous that their interests can not with justice be ignored or antagonized by legislation. This class is composed, for the most part, of industrious and honest men--men who earn their bread by the sweat of their brows --men who rise early and toil late. It is. estimated by careful statisticians that fully one-half of our State and county taxes are the result of the liquor traffic. Tax-payers are called upon to support the victims of the rum trade; they have to pay for the support of paupers that are made by it, and for the prosecution of its criminals, etc. Not unfrequently a single murder trial, caused by liquor, costs a county ten times as much as the revenue it receives from the traffic for a whole year; and these enormous and wholly unnecessary expenses must be paid by the hard-working, industrious, and frugal tax-payers. Is it...
